

Educational activity of The Polish Teacher's Association during the "propaganda of success" (1970–1980)

Summary

The article discusses the issue of propaganda in the education policy proposed by state authorities in Poland in the 1970s. The author shows the central management of education and ideological guidance and its political impact on society. Mainly it focuses on the phenomenon of the so-called "propaganda of success", which was reflected during this time as part of other activities of the Association of Polish Teachers, hidden within the state directives of "modernizing education" and "building a developed socialist society".

Keywords: education, socialist pedagogy, teaching organization, ideological and political propaganda, socialist system.