

Kamilla Mrozowska (1917–2002) – teacher – scholar – master

Summary

Kamilla Mrozowska was born in Petersburg in 1917 and died in Krakow in 2002. She graduated from Warsaw University with a diploma in History. During the Second World War she was involved in secret teaching in Warsaw. She connected her scientific activity with the Jagiellonian University of Krakow, where she earned the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1948. In 1958, she was nominated for the post of Associate Professor (Docent), and in 1978 – was conferred the title of Full Professor. She specialized in the history of education and child rearing. The majority of her research dealt with the traditions of the Polish Enlightenment and the history of the Jagiellonian University. They concern problems connected with maintaining history of education as an independent scientific discipline. She was an active organizer of scholarly life at the Jagiellonian University and the initiator of establishing the Inter-Departmental Cultural-Educational Study in 1966 at the University. She held the post of Head of the Institute of Pedagogy at the Jagiellonian University from 1972–1978. She was very active at popularizing knowledge as a member of Liga Kobiet Polskich [Polish Women's Association]. She will be remembered by her students as an excellent teacher and tutor, a master, who set the direction for many Polish historians of education and child rearing.
